BENTLEY.—The annual meeting of the Bentley Community Hospital was held on Monday evening, Feb. 14. The hospital has been lately incorporated and it was necessary to elect a complete new board. ## A Successful Season

THE local hockey team has disbanded for the winter. Beaten out of the provincial playoffs last week by Wetaskiwin, the smart aggregation which was Lacombe's hockey team is forced to remain content on the sidelines watching other provincial teams battle for the possession of the cups, but there was no disgrace in the performance of the local team this year. Purely an amateur team of housewives in this day of "shamateurs," composed mostly of ex-juniors who graduated to intermediate hockey this past season, the team made up in fight what it lacked in experience. Outweighed in almost all of their encounters, the boys pulled many games out of the fire by their outstanding fighting spirit.

Under the able tutelage of Coach Bob English the boys learned what combination on the ice really means, and went on to show its worth in many a hard-fought battle. With the experience which the club gained this past year, Lacombe is laying a sound base upon which to build a strong team next year.

The Farmers' Salvation

THE Forage Crop Seed Policy being recommended by the various municipal districts and strongly backed by the Provincial governments is believed to be Western Canada's solution to soil drifting. F. H. Newcombe, district agriculturist, speaking before the ratepayers of the Municipal District of Crown last Friday, declared: "I strongly urged the planting of forage crop seeds for three reasons; grass seeds return the fiber to the soil; it retains soil moisture and it will, in time, eliminate soil drifting."

The use of grasses is also being affected by the officials of the Dominion Preservation of Water and Rehabilitation Scheme, who are operating throughout Southern Saskatchewan and drought portions of Southern Alberta. It is only through a crop rotation which permits regularly the planting of forage crop seeds on the complete acreage under cultivation, that the western farmers will regain the financial position which they held prior to 1930.

The return to the farming lands of the soil fibre, so evident in newly broken land, is the only practical method by which the farmer may combat soil drifting and soil fertility. It is hoped that the farmers of the west will hearken to the government officials and solve their own individual problems through the use of grass seeds.

Needed - A Firm Stand

FROM this viewpoint it appears that Britain's policy in European affairs is to change from the firm stand recently taken by Anthony Eden to one of conciliation. The recent resignation of Great Britain's foreign secretary has formed one of the most serious political crises in British affairs in recent years. Premier Neville Chamberlain and some of his cabinet believe that concessions should be made to the dictators of Europe; they make it clear it is their belief that efforts should be made to pacify these blustering "iron men" of Europe. Anthony Eden, on the other hand, is just as emphatic that Germany should not be granted her colonies, and that no concessions should be made to the rulers of Germany and Italy without provisos.

"Great jubilation" was reported in Germany when the news of Eden's resignation was made public, and well may there be jubilation, for with Eden out of the way, it is possible that Hitler may succeed in his bluff for colonies. If so, will Hitler be satisfied?

That is the question, and it can be answered only in the negative. Der Fuhrer's hold on Germany is maintained only through his fight for "Germany's place in the sun," and as soon as the colonies are handed over to him, the cry will go up for the Polish corridor, and after that for some other concession on the part of Great Britain and France.

His first cry was for the Rhineland. He took that five years ago, and bluffed Europe into taking it. Now his demand is for the colonies, and it appears he might succeed in his bluff, backed up by a competent army.

Just as success whets ambition, so any concession to Hitler must lead to only some other, and greater demand. The return of the colonies to Hitler, and the fawning of European statesmen upon him, will only make the dictator more arrogant and self-assured. A stand must be taken soon, and the sooner it is taken, the less serious will be the consequences.

Through the Eyes of a Country Woman

By BRIDGET

Seldom a week passes that we do not hear of some murderer paying with his life for the crime he has committed. Two years ago I listened to a "very able woman," exhorting farmers to study very carefully the question of capital punishment, and a remark I heard this week brought it back to my mind. I heard a young fellow (of foreign extraction) say, "It is a funny thing, this thing you call justice; if a man kills somebody, he is bad, you say, and you kill him, take his life, which is the very thing you say he shouldn't have done. But, the man who kills most people in a war is considered a brave man, a good man, and you honor and decorate him."

There is a whole field for argument summed up in the foregoing statement. On the one hand, people will point out that abolishing capital punishment would mean an increase in crime, while on the other hand it is argued that we have not the right to take human life. With which do you agree? Why should we raise an act which is usually considered a crime, to the status of a virtue? Of course, premeditated murder is in a class apart, something abominable, and usually the product of a warped mind. In war, it can be argued, it is kill or be killed! The killing is in self-defence, and so could be termed justifiable, and the combatant (the common soldier) being always under the impression that he is fighting in the cause of right, thereby elevates his killings to virtuous acts. The killer is a hero, and his bravery is written and sung in story-book and verse.

Who is actually to blame for all this? Surely all of us should take our share. Don't we prepare the soldier? Isn't he trained in the art of killing before he is sent to the human slaughter grounds? Could not the world be a much better place if this is in a class with premeditated murder? In civil life a man commits a murder, and the rest of the community suffer (if capital punishment were abolished, by having to pay taxes to keep him fed and housed in some jail for the rest of his life. That does not seem quite fair, and so we return to the argument, why shouldn't he pay with his life? However, have we the right to take a human life? If capital punishment were abolished at this present time, there is not a doubt in my mind that crimes of violence would be seriously increased. A murderer is usually a coward, and it is the fear of the electric chair, or the hangman's gall, that keeps some criminals from going further. In the next analysis the actual murderer is not the only criminal. Lack of education and proper environment contribute to the making of criminals. The present system under which we live is conducive to the breeding of the criminal instinct. A man must live, and under the present system, he cannot always get the wherewithal for fair means, so the weak and ill-balanced will always turn to foul means to attain the standard of living which he considers society owes him. Therefore, in any consideration of crimes of violence and capital punishment, we must take into account, in our process of reasoning, the system which contributes very materially to the marked increase in such crimes in the past few unprecedented hard years.

We preach peace, we laud the efforts of the Red Cross in the alleviation of suffering, and yet we are going the right way to war, to get at the root of these two problems of peace and crime? We punish the murderer, we hang him, we electrocute him, we praise the police who shoot him down in cold blood, but have we not a responsibility to bear in these matters?

Over the radio, we have been asked to send donations for the Red Cross, but isn't it inconsistent to send donations for the alleviation of suffering, and at the same time to know that Canada, with practically a world monopoly of nickel, is sending more and more of this commodity to the warring nations of the world? Canada is helping to make every bullet that is causing the suffering that we are asked to try and mend. Isn't this a ridiculous position? The profits of the nickel producers have increased forward in an amazing manner during the last year. The dividends must be very nice for the stockholders to receive, and we can only hope that they are generous contributors to the Red Cross.

In the name of reason, is this a logical position? Canada standing aloof and taking a "holier than thou" attitude, preaching "no war," and yet helping to make the very implements of war. Every mother who is sincere in her desire for peace should hand together and fight to have an embargo placed on the exportation of nickel. It is up to us to strangle this thing at its source. It was suggested over radio station CFCN, by the Editor of The Texaco News, that such an embargo might bring factories to Canada. To my mind it gives me a vision of infinite possibilities. We would use our nickel for the common good of all, and export it as a finished article at our own discretion.

A lot of crimes would never have been committed if those who perpetrated these crimes had had proper early training, and I feel it is a common responsibility of all to work for the betterment of society in general. To convert the hard-edged criminal, or successful killer, may well be impossible, but if we started at the right end of all these problems, we would be, I believe, further ahead. In the same way, if we want to, let us teach peace, and try to stop helping war. It is within our power to do this, so let us, as true Canadian mothers, band together and do something constructive about his anomalous position in which Canada finds herself today.

"Interest in the Government Dying,"—Edmonton Writer

By T. B. WINDROSS

EDMONTON.—The delay of the budget, the persistent reports of impending changes in the cabinet's personnel, and the clear indications that members of the Social Credit caucus actually have developed no clear or definite and practical ideas for debt reduction, all have combined during the past week to give support to the belief that the present Alberta government and the legislature are abandoning their professed theories of finance, and are turning to ward common sense administration on a business-like basis.

Dying interest in the government and the legislature is considered to have contributed to the abundance of impractical dreams of sudden Utopia. During the early sessions of this legislature the galleries were always jammed with spectators, but the galleries this season have been almost empty much of the time, and never yet filled even to comfortable capacity. There was nothing to interest them; the first 40 bills were all dry minor amendments.

The people at large have shown that they have become weary of sweeping promises and high sounding legislation which never have been implemented. Various members of the Social Credit side of the House have been challenged, privately, to name one piece of social legislation which has been enacted, since August of 1935. None of those members have been able to name one which can be said to have been carried into effect as a special act benefitting the people of the province. Not one!

The single exception to the list of legislative dreams shattered upon the first attempt at practical application may develop next week when the new Workmen's Compensation Act is passed. It is social legislation, designed to protect and assist workmen in all industries except agriculture. But the new act now proceeding through the House is simply a revision and consolidation of the act which has been in the statute books since 1922. The only important new provision is that assistance to dependents of men who are under the scope of the Compensation Act and who are killed at work, is to extend now to children up to the age of 18, instead of 16 as formerly.

Treatment for T.B. Victims Also regarded sometimes as social legislation of benefit to the public was the act which extended free treatment to tuberculosis victims, but the fact that it extended to only a handful of people, and that it was financed by an increased special tax, precludes it from being classified as social legislation applying to the public at large.

But the pile of other acts, including the series of Social Credit acts which were introduced with much acclaim and heralded at the time as the salvation of Alberta, are getting mouldy on the shelves. There has been no credit house established. No actual work has ever done after all the talk in the House; toward establish "Alberta credit."

When George Powell and Leslie Byrne came to Alberta from England as "Social Credit experts," the government thought that someone was going to be able to do something at last. But the two of them have done not a single thing, as far as can be discerned, toward implementing the Social Credit theories they claim to hold. Instead, they have concentrated all their efforts on pro-government propaganda. And it seems that even Major C. H. Douglas has not had a single concrete idea to offer which would enable his men here to make any progress.

Instead, he and his "experts" and the government and the Social Credit members of the House have found it easier and profitable to blame the Canadian constitution and the banks as responsible for the Alberta government's failure to put the Social Credit dream into fact. Neither bank law nor constitution was mentioned as a hindrance during the election campaign.

Blame the Constitution There has been talk of "bear-hands" and of another bill "to provide additional credit" in the past week, but some of the members of the caucus remember the scrip experiment, and are ready to admit privately that the "bear-hand" would meet the same fate because the credit on which they would be based has been destroyed already. They know that confidence of the people is the first requirement for any credit instrument, and that the expensive collapse of scrip showed that people will not who homesteaded near Clive in 1903. Mr. Longstreet was born on a farm near Polmont, Minn., in 1877, and received his early education in that state. He worked with his father on the farm until the age of 23, at which time he set out for himself, and arrived in Lacombe in October, 1900. He spent his first winter in this country three miles east of Lacombe at what was then known as Urquhardt Post Office. In the Spring of 1901, Mr. Longstreet settled on a homestead near Clive, and later purchased some tracts of C.P.R. land, one portion of which he himself and Clive now occupies.

In the same year (1901), his mother and father moved here from Minnesota, and Mr. Longstreet spent several years breaking land with the help of his father. In 1907, the Clive Townsite Co. was formed, the instigators of the organization being Mr. Longstreet and his father. On this company sat William Morton Sr. (now deceased), Norman Meadows (a present resident of Clive), Elizabeth J. Johnstone (now residing in Picaune Valley) and J. T. Reynolds (deceased). These residents of the district were responsible for selecting the site where Clive now stands, and changed the name of the small centre from Valley City to its present name of Clive.

Mr. Longstreet has lived in the Clive district and in the vicinity itself since first coming here. In 1915 he was married to Miss Julia Mae Walters of Pictou, N.S. They have three children—one son, Walter, and two daughters, Lorna and Gertrude—all residing at home.

Mr. Longstreet is a charter member of the Clive L.O.O.F., which was organized in 1914, and has been a councillor of the Village of Clive for over ten years. He also served for some years as mayor of the village. He now lives a semi-retired life in Clive proper.

HONEY EXPORTERS

Canada is the chief exporter of honey to the Scottish market. The white clover honey reaches that market principally from Ontario and Quebec, and recently from Saskatchewan, whose honey won all prizes in both the clear and granulated groups in the Dominion Section of the Imperial Fruit Show in Birmingham, Eng., in 1937. The quality of all Canadian honey is reported high and finds a ready sale.

Everything now points to the indication that the Aberhart government and the Social Credit members are content to finish out their term of office quietly with an administration as sound as any can give, and then attempt to devise some new platform for a new appeal to the electorate in 1940.

Blackfalds

(From Our Own Correspondent)
BLACKFALDS.—We regret to announce the death at Red Deer on Monday of Mrs. Edward Plumb, after suffering for a considerable time with cancer. Mrs. Plumb was the second wife of Mr. Plumb, whom she met overseas during the war, and she has lived in this district ever since, earning for herself a host of friends. The funeral service was held in Red Deer on Wednesday, Feb. 23. Interment took place in the family plot of the Blackfalds cemetery. The sympathy of the community goes out to her four step-sons, who are located in and around the village of a healthy populace.

Lawrence Martin, who has been held up in Calgary owing to his recent indisposition, is now back at work in the store again.

The Ladies' Aid met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Bills. Rev. A. L. Carr of Lacombe was present at the meeting and took advantage of the opportunity to start a Trail Rangers' Club. So far boys are enrolled, but other boys wishing to join will be welcome. The boys helped to swell the congregation at last Sunday's service.

Mr. and Mrs. Hale were the guests of Rev. and Mrs. Carr of Lacombe at dinner last Sunday, and after the evening service, Mr. Hale gave the Young People's Club an address on India in the church.

Will Present Play
The Willing Workers have now decided to put on a play some time in March. The play is entitled "Daffy and Doty" and is under the capable guidance of Mrs. Larson. Play books have been sent for and as soon as they arrive it is hoped to get things under way.

Hindman hockey team entertained Chill Lake on their rink last Sunday, defeating them by a score of 7-6 after an exciting game.

The Nurse of the Red Deer Health Clinic was at the school on Monday last to give the High School girls a health lecture. She expects to repeat her visit next Monday.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dane on Feb. 10, when their youngest son, Malcolm, was united in marriage to Selma Helen Brattle of Calgary.

Tees Tattle Tales

By TATTLE

TEES.—The number of unwell people throughout the district with chills, mumps or just bad temper, proves that Old Man Sickness still has to be reckoned with even during the most severe parts of the winter. It more or less disproves the old saying that a cold winter was a good sign of a healthy populace.

Bill Ferguson was taken to the Lacombe Hospital Thursday last, suffering from double pneumonia. He is now reported as progressing favorably.

Mrs. De Zaeyer was rushed in to Lacombe Thursday last, suffering from blood poisoning in one of her legs. Although resting comfortably at present, her case is still very serious.

Mrs. E. Harris returned from the hospital last Thursday but is still under the doctor's care.

Wayne Sims is at present laid up, suffering with a mastoid; Bill Wright, with a sore arm, and Cass, with a week-end cold.

Recover From Mumps
The ranks of the High and Public schools swelled to almost normal on Monday, when a large percentage of the mumps-stricken children returned to their studies. They all looked natural, that fullness of the face having disappeared.

It was considered alright for anyone to ship in a bassinet, but when the C.P. agent slipped up the back way and took one home, the tongue began to click and the eyes became more observant. Why?

Mrs. Gorgier and daughter Lilian visited Lacombe Saturday, giving the shopping district the once-over and listening to the dentist's drill.

Visitors to Calgary
Chas. McDougall and Dick Lacombe spent a week-end in Calgary, visiting friends and on business.

The dark horse in the municipal race was turned up at last, and who do you think it is? Jack Reynolds of Olive—no other. The election will be held next Saturday. Mr. Carter is standing for re-election and a large turn-out at the polls is expected.

Srs. Ogilvie almost froze his ears Saturday. Believe it or not! Friday night he topped his first game, curling, and won from Sker Cunningham by a score of 9-8. Since that time his hat doesn't fit. We are all thankful that the weather has changed to warmer levels.

Returns to Benalto
Mrs. Norton returned to Benalto Monday, after a short visit with her daughter, Mrs. Holsworth.

A few of the young fellows around town have secured work, bailing straw, leaving the hamlet quiet.

The Young People's Club held its fortnightly get-together Monday evening.

A loud laugh was heard from the north-west at the telling of the bassinet story. Why laugh, Pat?—it's true.

The side roads are practically all blocked for car travel; drivers also have to be very careful coming in from the highway, as several treacherous ruts are in the road.

Frank Heath has been under the weather for the past two weeks, suffering from a severe cold and rheumatism.

Straw Loading Commences
The loading of straw commenced Tuesday for the drought areas of Saskatchewan. A large quantity will be shipped.

Mrs. La Fontaine left Tuesday for her home at Lomond, Alta., after spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. T. W. Newton.

Mrs. Basil Weatherill left Tuesday for a short visit at Red Deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Walker paid a business visit to Lacombe during the week.

those things which ye do hear and see: The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them. And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me" (Matthew 11:4-6).

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, is as follows (page 131): "The mission of Jesus confirmed prophecy, and explained the so-called miracles of olden time as natural demonstrations of the divine power, demonstrations which were not understood. Jesus' works established his claim to the Messiahship. In reply to John's inquiry, 'Art thou he that should come?' Jesus returned an affirmative reply, recounting his works instead of referring to his doctrine, confident that his exhibition of the divine power to heal would fully answer the question."

Work on the Banister-Jaffee highway will be resumed this Spring

MACHINERY HAS STRAIGHTENED UP THIS SHAPE

Millot, the French artist, son of a farmer and himself a farm laborer, has in his universally known pictures of "The Gloamers, The Man with the Hoe, etc., left a very graphic record of farming methods and their influence on farm workers of a century ago.

Edwin Markham, the American poet, viewing The Man with the Hoe, interprets it to us with dramatic force in his poem of the same name when he says, "Who loosened and let down this brutal jaw, / Whose hand that slanted back this brow, / Whose breath blew out the light within this brain."

Ringing out the challenge, he asks—"Is this the thing the Lord, God made and gave dominion over land and sea", and calls on "Masters, Lords and Rulers of all lands to straighten up this shape".

But each step in this great emancipation has come by the introduction of some new labor-saving machine. Thus by liberating man from back-breaking, brain-deadening toil, modern machinery has done more than all the masters, lords and rulers of all lands to straighten up this shape.

For ninety years now Massey-Harris has played a conspicuous part in designing and making such labor-saving machines and in the development of power and power equipment for farm operations.

Gull Lake

(From Our Own Correspondent)

GULL LAKE.—The Gull Lake Mutual Telephone Company held its third annual meeting at the home of Harry Hansen on Jan. 15, 1938. All directors and officers, including President H. Brownlow, were returned to office.

In the absence of Dayton Wareham, Ray Hutton was elected to audit the books. A good substantial balance is on hand.

It was decided to purchase ten new poles. It was also agreed that no arrears greater than $6.00 would be allowed, and that a 30-day notice would be given.

The play, "The Middlemarch Maid," was presented at the school on Feb. 14, before a good crowd. Despite the 20-below-zero weather, it was greatly enjoyed by young and old alike. Those in the case were Mr. and Mrs. John Rathje, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leich, Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Leich, Misses Eleanor Ross and Nellie Coyle and several young men.

After the play a few musical numbers were given by the school children.

Harry Hansen made a very good auctioneer and sold the Valentine boxes in record style. The money realized will be kept for future use in buying equipment for the rink, etc.

Residing at Aspen Beach Alfred Amundsen, who recently married Miss Melvina Morrow, is now living with his new bride at Aspen Beach, in the Lake Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Dowling and Helen were guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hansen.

Serious Foot Injury

Ted Jenkins of Aspen Beach had the misfortune to cut his foot badly while getting out wood. The axe glanced and severed four toes. He is now in the Bentley Hospital under Dr. Henry's care.

Tom Lorimer, grain buyer at Aspen Beach, recently returned from Edmonton, where he won four games out of seven in the annual bonspiel.

Don Pierson bought a new Dodge sedan recently.

Guy Trimble was a business visitor in Edmonton last week. Carl Madsen is in the district doing custom sawing.

John Boode is a visitor at the home of L. Ebeling. He has recovered from the severe burns he received last Oct. 9.

The Merry Maidens' Club met at the home of their leader, Mrs. T. Collette, on Saturday, Feb. 19. During the meeting the new officers were elected as follows:

President, Miss Norma Hutton; vice-president, Miss Helen Campbell; secretary-treasurer, Miss Kathleen Gibson. The new member admitted was Mary Peterson of Bentley. The next meeting will be held March 5.

Keeps Costs Down

The big advantage, however, of the new equipment is the help it has given in reducing the cost of raising crops. One farmer who keeps track of expenses says that a 2000-bushel crop from 100 acres, planted, harvested, and threshed with the newest Disc Seeder and Reaper-Thresher, cost him only 5 1/2 cents a bushel as against 14 1/2 cents per bushel with the old horse equipment and separate Thresher method—a saving of 9 cents per bushel, or a 62 per cent cut in the cost of producing wheat.

It is the supplying of such equipment as this that is going to give farmers an opportunity to make some real money in this Western country when they do get a chance at a crop.

OIL INDUSTRY HAS YIELDED

LOW INVESTMENT RATE

It is true that net earnings of the oil industry are showing improvement but never have they been on the huge scale so often claimed by the uninformed.

For the 16-year period from 1921 to 1936 the average capital investment in the industry was $10,776,828,000 and on this the average earnings were $154,536,580. This average return was at the rate of 1.43 per cent per year.

Even in 1935 when earnings in the industry took a sharp turn for the better, the yield was only 2.54 per cent.

Earnings have not exceeded five per cent in any year since 1931 and for three out of the five years since that time, there have been deficits.

Although the industry has steadily expanded, the factors of increased competition, low prices, obsolescence of equipment, and mounting taxes, have kept the earnings at a low level.

George Arliss in Dual Role At Avalon Theatre

(From Our Own Correspondent)

George Arliss takes advantage of the rich opportunities presented in a dual role when he appears this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Avalon Theatre in "Men of Affairs." Starting in Arabia, the story switches to London's smart Mayfair, where the smug Lord Dunshester is forced to receive his devil-may-care brother, during an international crisis.

The worthless brother successfully impersonates his stolid twin, saves the country from being plunged into war and even finds time to straighten out a romance. The finish is fast-moving, production values are excellent and Herbert Mason directing is evident throughout. The play is a comedy-drama and will please all movie-goers.

Robert Montgomery and Marion Davies are the stars of the second feature, "Ever Since Eve," which complete a fine double bill.

A big hot Indian had just ordered a ham sandwich at a drug counter and was peering between the slices of bread when he turned and said to the waiter:

"Tigh, you slice 'em ham?"

The waiter replied: "Yes, I sliced the ham."

"Tigh!" grunted the Indian.

"You darn near miss 'em."

"Oatmeal, oatmeal—every day oatmeal!" lamented Willie.

"Yes," said Fred, "no wonder they call it a serial."

Keeps Costs Down

The big advantage, however, of the new equipment is the help it has given in reducing the cost of raising crops. One farmer who keeps track of expenses says that a 2000-bushel crop from 100 acres, planted, harvested, and threshed with the newest Disc Seeder and Reaper-Thresher, cost him only 5 1/2 cents a bushel as against 14 1/2 cents per bushel with the old horse equipment and separate Thresher method—a saving of 9 cents per bushel, or a 62 per cent cut in the cost of producing wheat.

It is the supplying of such equipment as this that is going to give farmers an opportunity to make some real money in this Western country when they do get a chance at a crop.

OIL INDUSTRY HAS YIELDED

LOW INVESTMENT RATE

It is true that net earnings of the oil industry are showing improvement but never have they been on the huge scale so often claimed by the uninformed.

For the 16-year period from 1921 to 1936 the average capital investment in the industry was $10,776,828,000 and on this the average earnings were $154,536,580. This average return was at the rate of 1.43 per cent per year.

Even in 1935 when earnings in the industry took a sharp turn for the better, the yield was only 2.54 per cent.

Earnings have not exceeded five per cent in any year since 1931 and for three out of the five years since that time, there have been deficits.

Although the industry has steadily expanded, the factors of increased competition, low prices, obsolescence of equipment, and mounting taxes, have kept the earnings at a low level.

LOW-PRICED CAR

Illustrated—Chevrolet 5-passenger Master De Luxe Sedan with trunk.

BECAUSE the Valve-in-Head type engine is the most efficient known, it's the kind you find in record-breaking racing cars, speed boats, airplanes . . . and on the new Chevrolet!

Valve-in-Head efficiency means that more power is developed from gasoline. Or you can put it this way . . . Chevrolet gives owners up to 27 miles per gallon of gas—without sacrificing the full 85-H.P. performance needed for acceleration, hill-climbing and smooth cruising speed.

Add to this the fact that Chevrolet's exclusive Valve-in-Head Engine cuts down oil consumption to a new low minimum—reduces carbon formation—is famous for dependability . . . And there you have the reasons why a Valve-in-Head Engine is the very best kind for a car that emphasizes low running and upkeep costs.

Come to our showrooms today. Take the wheel and experience the thrill of Valve-in-Head power!

$17,000,000 Saving Is Seen in New Egg-Testing Machine

AUBURN, Ala.—Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station announced recently the perfection of a testing machine which will tell whether an egg will produce a chick. Dr. M. J. Finches, director, said the machine will "tell" within 15 hours whether a hen egg is fertile and said it has a potential value of $17,000,000 to American poultrymen. During a normal hatching season in the United States more than 200,000,000 infertile eggs are placed in incubators and lost annually, he said. "Our work, together with that in other States, indicates that the total hatch in the country can be increased by 10 to 15 per cent by the elimination of infertile eggs." At the same time it would save yearly about 16,700,000 dozen eggs for feeding purposes, he said.

Warns About Thistles

A letter from O. S. Longman, Field Crops Commissioner for the Province, was read by E. W. Simpson, secretary-treasurer. "The pernicious Sow Thistle and the Canada thistle are increasing at an alarming rate in some municipalities. Other weeds are increasing also, so all councils are asked to take steps and such actions during the coming season as they may deem advisable," the letter read, in part.

F. H. Newcombe, district agriculturist, spoke of the great question confronting farmers of this district today, "whether to continue growing Garnet wheat or not." He asked those present, that if they were planning on switching from Garnet because of the degrading of this class of wheat, to "consider carefully what strain of wheat you will grow, beforehand." Mr. Newcombe recommended either Red Bobs 22 or Redward. "There are dangers in Thatcher, Apex and Alliance; these wheats will not grow well in this district, and I strongly advise against the use of such wheats," he concluded.

Challenge in the three-day 'spiel and were presented with six silver spoons each. In the other primary event, the local rink was beaten out in a 13-ender which had to be measured before the winner was proclaimed.

F. N. McCormick, skipper of a rink consisting of F. W. Pratt, H. E. Wilson and M. G. Cruickshanks, also entered the 'spiel and got as far as the eighth in the Grand Challenge.

With Ed. Bowring as skip, a Lacombe rink invaded Ponoka last Thursday at the time of the Ponoka one-day bonspiel and returned victors over a tough field. G. T. Jackson was third on the rink and J. S. Fraser and Joe Mack second and lead. Four games were played and won by the local representatives during the play. Pyrex pie casseroles were presented to the curlers as evidence of their victory.

One of Canada's most modern bridges now spans the Fraser River at New Westminster, B.C.
